19th Century Danish Mahogany Veneer Column Cabinet with Single Door

19th century Danish column cabinet crafted with mahogany veneer in a slender cylindrical form.

The cabinet features a single door flanked by simple fluted carving and bordered by darker walnut inlay. The elongated oval shape gives it a refined, vertical presence. The door opens to reveal two removable interior shelves. One shelf shows an older repair.

The exterior shows minor nicks and scratches consistent with age, with more visible wear along the top surface, including scratches and gouges from use where an item was likely on display. The key is present and functions, though the lock does not fully engage. It is recommended the key be used as a pull. The cabinet has been restored and is strong, stable, and ready to use.

Please refer to professional photos for clear understanding of color, condition, and details; photo lighting, individual monitor display and home lighting all impact how item is viewed. Photos are part of item description, please ask questions or request additional photos of specific areas if needed.
