19th Century French Cherry Three Drawer Console Table

19th century French console table, crafted in cherry with three drawers across the front, each fitted with a large brass handle. The table is raised on slightly curved legs with a scalloped skirt, giving it a classic and useful form. Its lower height makes it especially well suited for placement behind a loveseat or sofa. The top shows aged, dried residual wormhole evidence along with cracks and scratches that add to the vintage character of the piece. Similar wear is seen along the legs, where there are visible old repairs. Wormholes are dried and no longer active. Restored strong and stable, this lovely French table is ready to use and enjoy.
