Early 19th Century Swedish Dark Pine Console Table

Early 19th century Swedish console table, crafted in pine with a dark aged patina. The table stands on a traditional stretcher base, giving it the grounded look and simple strength associated with Swedish country furniture. Deep gouges and old cracks in the top add to the aged character of the piece, while nicks, scratches, and old stains further reflect generations of use. The overall form has great deep country appeal with a straightforward and timeless presence. Restored strong, stable, and ready to use.
