19th Century Large White Danish Bookcase Display Cabinet

19th century large Danish bookcase, crafted in pine. This large display cabinet features removable shelves and offers substantial storage and display space. The newer layered white painted finish with gray undertones has been lightly distressed, revealing natural pine below and giving the piece a soft aged look. Simple fluted carved detail accents the sides and drawers, adding understated decorative character to the form. Doors and drawers open with brass pulls. Please note some minor loss to the crown (as seen in photos). Typical age-related cracks are seen in some of the paneled doors, along with nicks, dings, and age-related separation consistent with years of use. Restored strong, stable, and ready to use. A wonderful bookcase or large display cabinet with scale, versatility, and classic European appeal.
