Early 20th Century Rustic Peg Leg Console Table from Hungary

This rustic plank top console table with splay peg legs originally served as a work table. Note the top revealing generations of use in the heavy gouges, cracks, and stains which add character and intrigue to the table itself. There is an age-related separation of the two planks that form the top. The iron bolts seen along the edge add an industrial element to this console. Restored, this table is strong, stable and ready for use. Wax finish.

All scratches, cracks, dings, and age related separation are reflective of age and do not detract from the appeal nor function of this rustic accent table.
