Late 18th Century Large Swedish Blue Painted Wedding Cabinet

Late 18th century large Swedish wedding cabinet, crafted in pine. A curved bonnet crown and carved paneled doors create the strong silhouette of this classic Swedish form. The upper cabinet with two large doors rests above a lower section with two long drawers, giving the piece both presence and useful storage. The upper cabinet opens with a key to reveal three standard shelves and an upper curved notched shelf that was originally used to display family silver spoons and serving utensils. The lower drawers unlock with a key and open using brass pulls. The drawer interiors remain natural pine and show some staining and minor cracks. The entire cabinet has been given a professionally applied layered blue painted finish, lightly distressed to suit the age and grace of the piece, while the upper interior is painted in a contrasting gray. Restored strong, stable, and ready to use. Built in sections for easier transportation and installation. The back shows old repairs. Please refer to professional photos for clear understanding of color, condition, and details; photo lighting, individual monitor display and home lighting all impact how item is viewed. Photos are part of item description, please ask questions or request additional photos of specific areas if needed.
