English Mahogany Leather Top Large Conference or Dining Table with Leaves, circa 1900

This large and unique English leather top table is from the turn of the century. Attractive mahogany, turned legs and leather top with embossed edging complete the classic look. The leather top indicates it was likely used as a writing table or perhaps in an office conference area, with two additional curved leaves or ends that allow it to extend. Specific dimensions are: Central rectangular table: 72"w x 46.25"d x 29"h

2 Curved End/Leaves: 24.25"w x 46.25"d x 29"h

Total Length with both leaves added: 120.5" / 10 feet long

Floor to skirt height: 23.75"

Note the close up photos of the leather top which reveal the many stains(throughout), scuffs, even bits of paint that reveal generations of use all adding to the authentic vintage appeal of this large table. Typical age related scuffs, cracks and scratches along the wood as well.

Embossed leather border distressed/fading. Restored and ready for use. This dramatic 10' table will serve well as a large office /conference room table or even as a leather top dining table.
