19th Century Pine Sideboard from Denmark

19th century Danish sideboard, crafted in pine with two upper drawers positioned above two decorative paneled cabinet doors. Simple Fluted vertical carved details accent the drawers, while carved floral motifs decorate the doors and turned barley twist columns flank the cabinet front. Traditional front bun feet complete this Scandinavian country form. The drawers function smoothly, and the two cabinet doors are secured with interior metal snap closures. There are no locks or keys. Interior divided shelving provides useful enclosed storage.

Typical signs of age include scratches, cracks, nicks, and other surface wear throughout. Clear age related separation (which appear as cracks) is visible between the planks along both sides and back. Some staining or fading is seen on top, along with cracks and scratches. Residual signs of old wormhole activity are visible but are dry and inactive.

Restored, stable, and ready to use.
