Late 18th Century Hungarian Carved and Hand-Painted Flat-Top Trunk

Late 18th century Hungarian flat-top trunk crafted in pine, featuring elaborate carved decoration and hand-painted floral motifs across the front. The central panels display flowers arranged in vases, while narrower painted floral details continue along the left and right sides of the front, creating a richly decorative example of Hungarian country craftsmanship.

The original key remains functional, unlocking the hinged top to reveal a spacious interior. Grooves along the left interior side suggest that a shelf or small storage compartment was once fitted here and removed during the trunk's history. Heavy hand-wrought iron handles on both ends assist with moving and positioning this substantial piece.

The top is composed of two planks with visible age related separation between them. Scratches, gouges, cracks, stains, and other marks are present across the surface, reflecting centuries of use. The interior also displays old stains, cracks, and residual evidence of dried wormholes. Additional old wormholes are visible elsewhere on the trunk, but the activity is no longer active and does not impact function.

Restored, stable, and ready to use. The carved and painted front, substantial iron hardware, and naturally aged pine make this a distinctive storage trunk with authentic folk art character.
