1920s Austrian Original Hand-Painted Pine Folk Art Armoire with Floral Decoration

1920s Austrian single-door armoire crafted in pine, retaining its vibrant original hand-painted folk art finish. A traditional faux wood painted background is decorated with an abundance of floral motifs in warm autumn shades of orange, red, green, yellow, teal blue, and additional colors, creating a wonderfully expressive example of European country craftsmanship.

Heavily carved panels frame the decorative artwork on the front door, including a prominent vase overflowing with colorful flowers. The floral motifs continue along the canted sides, upper skirt, and additional architectural details, creating a beautifully coordinated painted surface.

The upper central crown displays the IHS symbol, traditionally representing the name of Christ in Greek. This religious motif adds historical and cultural interest to the armoire's decorative design.

The single door opens using an impressive old lock mechanism with its functioning key. Inside are two shelves of newer construction, providing convenient storage while preserving the traditional character of the cabinet.

Signs of age and use are visible throughout. Cracks are present along the door, while the interior shows additional cracking and age related separation along the sides and back. Exterior wear includes old gouges, nicks, and areas of distress to the original painted finish. Residual evidence of old dried wormhole activity is also present but is no longer active and does not impact function.

Restored, stable, and ready to use. A colorful and highly decorative Austrian folk art armoire that combines original painted craftsmanship with practical enclosed storage. Overall wear is typical for age while not impacting function.
